Flight Engineers Dispute Is Settled

U.S. Plans Study of New Atlantic-Pacific Canal Sites

3 Locations In Colombia, Panama Eyed

Present Waterway To Be Obsolete In 1980, Experts Say

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has sounded out Panama and Colombia about a study of sites in those two countries for a possible new Atlantic-Pacific ship canal, it was learned today.

Experts say the Panama Canal, built in 1903, will become obsolete or so jammed with traffic by 1980 that a new canal will be needed.

Augusto Guillermo Arango, ambassador of Panama, and Carlos Sanz de Santamaria, ambassador of Colombia, were called to the State Department this week to be told that the Kennedy administration plans to ask Congress for authority to make the canal studies. Once that is obtained, the two governments will be asked for formal authorization to make the surveys.

A bill asking congressional authority for studies in Panama and Colombia, and also to determine if it would be practical to increase the capacity of the present canal, has been under scrutiny of the Budget Bureau.

President Roberto Chiari of Panama was in Washington last week and told newsmen he and President Kennedy talked about possible new canal sites, but not in detail.

At one time, government engineers also considered Nicaragua and Mexico's isthmus as possible canal sites, but the proposal to be sent Congress has been construed to mean that Panama and Colombia offer the most promising.

Fire Station Is Completed At Leetonia

LEETONIA — Final payment on the new fire hall, just completed, was made by Village Council to contractor Edward S. Susany of Petersburg Wednesday night at the regular meeting.

Elvy Morris, council president, presided in the absence of Mayor Ralph Kennedy.

Firemen and councilmen will complete work on the grounds around the hall before fire equipment is moved in. The new brick structure was made possible by the passage of a $30,655 bond issue by local citizens.

The second reading was given to a proposed parking ordinance change and the fine for a parking violation was set at $5.

The new plan calls for no parking on both sides of State St. from Washington St. to Hazel St., the east side of Hazel between State and Columbia sts., the south side of Columbia to Nold St. and on both sides of Columbia from Nold to the corporation line.

In other action, Street Commissioner Richard Kleinknecht was given authority to hire two extra men to help reinforce the banks of Cherry Valley Creek flowing through the village.

Clerk Dan Butch announced that a special meeting of council would be called to consider the new budget before July 20, the budget deadline.

It was reported that $301 was received from Salem Township for fire protection since the June 6 meeting.

Since the next regular meeting would fall on Independence Day, Council will convene July 5.

Present besides Morris, Butch and Kleinknecht were Councilmen Frank Citino, Dale McCormick, Dan Cullinan, Chester Whitacre and Joe Weikert.

E. Liverpool Clerk Named In Shortage

A finding for the recovery of $23,841.79 against a former chief clerk in the East Liverpool water and sewer department and her surety was made in a state examiner's report submitted today to State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

Named in the report, which covered a 31-month period extending from May 1, 1959, through Nov. 30, 1961, were Roberta C. Smith, 36, and her bonding company, the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co.

Miss Smith, who was covered by a $5,000 blanket bond, was relieved of her duties Nov. 28, two days before the close of the audit period.

Prosecuting Atty. G. William

Brokaw, with whom a copy of the report was filed, said he has recalled the Columbiana County Grand Jury for Monday at 9 a.m. "to hear and consider evidence" arising out of the examiner's findings.

The prosecutor said he is co-operating with municipal officials at their request and has been working with East Liverpool Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper.

Missing Funds Listed

According to the examiner, the collected but unaccounted for funds included $15,716.38 which was due the city's water revenue fund, and another $8,125.41

OAS Terror Continues In Oran, Bone

Moslems Return To Jobs In Algiers

ALGIERS (AP)—Moslems returned to work in droves in Algiers today, feeling the city's truce will stick despite continued scorched earth attacks by the Secret Army Organization in eastern and western Algeria.

Authorities reported a virtually 100 per cent return to work in all vital services of the city. For the first time in months, the city's streets were cleaned of piles of garbage.

A number of Moslems also returned to work in private companies. Several restaurants reopened and movie theaters advertised new films.

Moslem auxiliary policemen were being gradually put to work in European areas. They patrolled the streets in pairs and here and there attempted to direct traffic.

Officials said it was essential that the Europeans get used to the idea of Moslem policemen before independence next month.

Authorities believed that terror would not return to the city again. "Everybody is tired of war and fighting," one official said, "we believe this peace shows all indications of permanence."

Authorities also were optimistic concerning the situation in western Algeria.

Some French reports said the secret army's West Algerian command was debating adherence to the Algiers truce worked out last weekend by a secret army leader in the capital and a member of the Moslem National Liberation Front.

But officials in Oran said there was no sign of a change in the Oran terrorists' earlier defiance of the peace agreement. Instead, a blast wrecked a large natural gas installation, sending flames shooting 300 feet into the air. The secret army was blamed.

Terrorists in eastern Algeria also were active, burning down the city hall and two other buildings.

Vandalism In Parks Under Investigation

Vandalism at Centennial Park is being investigated by city police.

Superintendent of Parks Charles Tomlinson reported to police that custodian Ben Ware discovered damage at the park over the weekend in the men's restroom. A commode was demolished. Outside at a pay phone the receiver wire was severed.

Older juveniles are suspected. Some vandalism at Watterworth-Memorial Park also was reported. A storage shed was broken into and equipment stolen last week.

Fund Measures Still Snarled In Congress

Payless Paydays Loom for Many U. S. Employees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The spectre of payless paydays for members of Congress and their employees may bring an early end to a Senate-House deadlock holding up appropriation bills.

In the backlog of bills jammed up by what has been called a "childish" and "foolish" technical controversy is one carrying money to operate Congress for the government year starting July 1.

Of lesser immediate importance on Capitol Hill are other bills financing the Treasury, Interior, Postoffice, Defense, Labor and Welfare departments and the President's own office for the same period.

Unless a face-saving compromise is worked out soon between the Senate and House Appropriations committees, just about every employee of the government and Congress technically will face payless paydays starting July 1.

Traditionally, senators have presided at joint meetings to compromise money bills on which the two branches differed. Traditionally, all appropriations bills have originated in the House.

The House group wants to change the rules and rotate the chairmanship at joint sessions. The Senate group said this would be okay if the House agreed to let the Senate institute every other appropriation bill.

Neither side appears willing to give in.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., called the hassle "foolish" and predicted it would end soon.

Meanwhile, Secret Service employees are off the payroll and are working on the theory that they eventually will get paid. Their pay funds expired recently, as did those of some other agencies.

With none of the big annual money bills cleared, the usual procedure would be for Congress to swish through an emergency measure financing all departments on a temporary basis. But there's no assurance the Senate committee would consider such a measure, although it always has in the past when there was no intercommittee feuding.

Current prospects are that some legislative heads will be bumped together soon and the stalemate will end with a guarantee that in the new Congress the entire subject of rotation of joint committee chairmanships will be considered. All other major joint committees rotate their chairmanships every two years between the Senate and the House.

Officials of the Concord Hotel at Kiamasha Lake, N.Y., in the Catskill Mountains, testified Wednesday that Jackie Bright, the union's administrative secretary and operating head, accepted thousands of dollars worth of free or bargain-rate board and room. The union has collective bargaining contracts with the Concord.

Bright, expected to testify Friday, sat silent as the testimony unfolded about vacation stays with his wife and children at the Concord.

Adlerman said he would produce evidence of more favors, but declined to say who got or gave them. It was learned a free vacation cruise would figure in the story.

The story about the fashionable Concord marked a sharp rise in the level of testimony. Prior testimony had dealt with honky tonk strip tease-exotic dance night clubs in the big towns, pictured by Daniel P. Sullivan of the Greater Miami Crime Commission as successors to and more vicious than the old-fashioned houses of vice.

The proposed theater is to be constructed as part of Wittenberg's planned $2.5 million music and drama facility. Construction will go forward once funds are raised.

Rusk Arrives In Berlin For Talk With Brandt

BERLIN (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk arrived in Berlin today to look at the Red wall and confer with Mayor Willy Brandt in a 2 1/2-hour visit.

He arrived from Paris in a U.S. Air Force Constellation, crossing Communist East Germany through the south corridor.

Rusk left Paris after talks with French President Charles de Gaulle and other French officials which reportedly convinced him that De Gaulle will put France's future nuclear striking force at the disposal of the Western alliance's defense plans.

From Berlin, Rusk will fly to Bonn for talks with West German leaders. A government spokesman said that in preparatory talks Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Cabinet had attained complete unity on all questions relating to the political unification of Europe.

Rusk's visit to Berlin comes at a time when tensions are high as a result of incidents along the wall. Hardly a night has gone by without a shooting at or near the wall or around the barbed wire borders separating East Germany

Ohio Central to Improve Phone Service In Area

The Ohio Central Telephone Corporation has decided to discontinue the installation of 10-party rural telephones and hereafter will install only eight parties on a line.

The announcement was made today by Burl Gibson, manager of the North Benton Division in this district.

Communities to benefit from this improved service are North Benton, Berlin Center, Damascus, Lake Milton, Wayland and Windham.

Gibson explained that on all rural lines having business telephones, consideration will be given to reducing the number of telephones on the line. The company is gradually enacting on this policy of eventually eliminating all the present 10-party lines as a further step of improvement to telephone service.

It was Bannon who disclosed the mediation offer after the talks had recessed for the night.

Pact Protects Jobs of 600 TWA Employees

Goldberg Announces Settlement After All-Night Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — Settlement of the engineers' strike threat against Trans World Airlines was announced today by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg after an all-night bargaining session in his office.

The settlement, a victory for President Kennedy who had termed the threatened shutdown a menace to the national economy, provides for orderly reduction of jet plane crews from four men to three.

Crux of Dispute

That had been the crux of the dispute, with the engineers insisting on terms which would maintain their cockpit job rights.

The TWA agreement is expected to lift the threat of grounding the planes of two other major airlines, Pan American World Airways and Eastern Airlines, which face the same problem of reducing crew numbers.

Goldberg told reporters the pact protects the jobs of the 600 TWA members of the Flight Engineers International Association and assures the continued identity of their union.

Signs that an agreement was near appeared early in the day. Subject To Ratification

The agreement, initiated at 10 a.m. by weary bargainers who have been in almost continuous session since Monday, is subject to ratification by the engineers. But approval is taken for granted by union officers here.

Goldberg described the terms as noninflationary and said that by providing for orderly crew reduction they will produce savings for the airline many times greater than whatever wage and working conditions terms are fixed in negotiations still to come.

The latter issues were disposed of in this fashion:

The parties will negotiate for one week; at the end of that time any issue not resolved will be settled by procedures to be specified by Nathan P. Finsinger, special mediator in the case; the union and the airline have agreed to accept his recommendations and refrain from striking.

The settlement assures the engineers, who must now qualify as pilots, that they will have top priority for assignment as the third man in the cockpit with two pilots.

It also provides assurance, Goldberg said, that the 3,000-man engineers' union will not be swallowed up in the 14,000-man Air Line Pilots Association as bargaining representative for its members.

The spokesman for the engineers, Attorney Asher Schwartz, said the pact assures his organization "greater assurance in their jobs as flight engineers than they have ever had" under any contract.

Vice President David Crombie of TWA, who initiated for the company, said the airline is "gratified at the successful conclusion of these most difficult negotiations" and paid tribute to the help of Goldberg, Undersecretary Willard Wirtz and Feinsinger.

JFK Aims to Use Deficit Financing To Build Economy

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy seeks to make deficit financing a respectable term in a changing world. He has an uphill fight on his hands.

To most Americans a Treasury deficit is a bad thing—unavoidable in a war or other national emergency, but unfortunate under any circumstances.

The President's argument is that the United States is entering a new world where deficit financing can be a virtue. His aim is to use it as a tool in building the economy to assure full employment and full use of industrial capacity.

Treasury deficits aren't new. There have been 11 of them in the 17 years since World War II. And the 11 total some four times as much as do the six surpluses. That is why the federal debt has risen to a record 1300 billion. And a 12th deficit—virtuous or not—seems likely in the 1963 fiscal year starting July 1.

Americans have been brought up to compare the Treasury deficit to one in the family budget when unpaid bills pile up in excess of current income. When the creditors won't hold off any longer, the family borrows to pay the bills—or goes bankrupt.

The Treasury meets its deficit by borrowing to pay its bills and by asking Congress, year after year, to raise the legal limit of the permissible federal debt.

But economists see a difference in the Treasury's and a family's deficit and borrowing. In the United States the Treasury usually borrows by tapping the banking system for funds. This means expanding the supply of money and credit, as distinguished from borrowing through sales of U.S. savings bonds to individuals, which doesn't inflate the supply of money.

Orthodox economic doctrine is that expanding the supply of money and credit may trigger economic growth by making it easier for business to expand its activities or plant, but that in the long run this inflation of the money supply leads to rising prices and wages.

Treasury surpluses, on the contrary, are held by orthodox economists to deflate the supply of money and credit, to put a brake on runaway booms, even to invite recessions—since the Treasury is taking more out of the economy in tax collections than it is putting back in by spending.

President Kennedy challenged this orthodox view in his speech at Yale. He points out that Treasury surpluses after the war—$745 million in the 1947 fiscal year, and $8.4 billion in 1948—didn't prevent a big spurt in the cost of living. Orthodox economists reply that these surpluses were chickenfeed compared to the huge inflation of the money supply during the war, the real culprit in the postwar rise in prices and wages.

The President also points out that Treasury deficits in the last few years—a peacetime record of $12 billion in the 1959 fiscal year—left wholesale prices unscathed while retail prices rose very little. Orthodox economists hold the real reason was that much industrial capacity was idle, and what was in operation faced fierce competition, holding prices down at the expense of contracting profit margins.

A few more Treasury deficits, the President says, could help the economy expand faster and in time mean higher tax collections, bringing the budget back into balance.

His opponents charge that such reasoning is just an excuse for more government spending.

Private Ventures Much In Evidence At Boys' State

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — While government is the theme at Buckeye Boys' State, private enterprise still is much in evidence.

Some of the citizens of the American Legion sponsored program for teen-agers at Ohio University formed a corporation designed to get control of important property. Included are the Byrd Ice Arena where the evening meetings are held and the Hocking River footbridge the boys use to get to the arena.

Furthermore, the Boys' State newspaper will be a private venture if some senators have their way. The daily, called the Netuck, was subject for debate during Senate committee hearings on the state budget submitted by the administration. Some committee members argued that the Hetuck must be privately owned in order to be truly independent—therefore, they sought to cut out the government appropriation for the newspaper operation.

Some of the elected officers at boys state are:

County commissioners — Wayne Bare, Nevada; Mike Dunphy, Middletown; Larry Merchant, Marion; Herman Ziegler, Hanoverton; Thomas Watson, Newcomers-town; Robert Pate, Hamilton.

County prosecutors — Denny Brandt, Carey; Wallace Brain, Warren.

County auditors — Roger Zimmerman, Bellevue; Lou Childress, Chaucery.

County treasurers — John Schaeffer, Lorain; John Erwin and Richard Fiehrer, Hamilton.

Clerks of court—Melvin Gillespie, Hamilton; Robert Forbes, Painesville.

County engineers—Scott Madson, Painesville; Frank Welling, Strasburg.

A History of Salem:

City Was Once Anti-Slavery Center

Chapter 2
The
(The Western Anti-Slavery Society)
On Aug. 10, 1839, the Salem Quarterly Meeting of Quakers passed a series of resolutions which were intended to be used as rules for school children.

According to the rules, the children were to be kind to one another, to avoid rude play and noisy amusement, to be careful to give no offense to any person, to be neat, to lose no time to and from school, and, "to be obedient to teachers—to love them for their care both in the instructions they give and the restraint which they exercise." The Salem Quakers were conservative, God-fearing people.

In 1842, Samuel Reynolds constructed a carpenter shop on Green St. (E. Second St.) and the upper room of the shop became the meeting place for those interested in anti-slavery agitation. Later, the shop was nicknamed "Liberty Hall."

IN 1842 The Western Anti-Slavery Society was established in the west, with Salem as its headquarters. Salem, historically, is ranked with Cincinnati and Oberlin as one of the three top centers for anti-slavery work in Ohio.

The most active Salem abolitionists were Dr. Benjamin Stanton (uncle of Edwin M. Stanton, head of the War Department under Lincoln, Isaac Trescott, Jonas D. Cattell, John C. Whinnery, and Daniel Howell Hise. These men engaged, quite actively in helping slaves escape to Canada.

The system whereby slaves would be hidden along their way to Canada was called the "Underground Railroad." Men who would guide and aid the escaping slaves were called "conductors" and homes used as hiding places were called "stations."

had crossed the Ohio River. Salem was on four of these routes and handled a large and growing traffic for 45 years prior to the outbreak of the Civil War. Many of the escapees would enter Ohio at Steubenville and at Wheeling's point of entry across the river, Marietta, Powhatan Point, and Wellsville, also, served as important points of entry.

SALEM'S IMPORTANCE to the operations of the 'Underground Railroad' is reflected in the great number of 'stations' that were located in the Quaker City.

The homes of Daniel Howell Hise, Joel Macmillan, John Street, Daniel Bonsall, Jonas D. Cattell, James Bonaty, James Barnaby, Benjamin Stanton, Benjamin Hawley, Charles Grizzell, Jacob Heaton, T. C. Boone, John C. Whinnery, Dr. Carey, Allen Boyle, and William Silver were utilized as refuges by the Salem branch of the 'Underground Railroad.'

The Western Anti-Slavery Society commenced publishing its own newspaper, the Anti-Slavery Bugle, in 1845. The paper's motto was, "No Union with Slaveholders." Publication began in June, 1845, in Lisbon, but after a few issues it was felt that the paper would be safer in the Quaker stronghold of Salem. Benjamin S. Jones and his wife co-edited the paper once it was printed in Salem.

In 1849, Oliver Johnson took over as editor and remained in that position until 1851 when Marius Robinson, of tar and feather fame, became the new editor. Robinson directed publication of the Bugle until 1859 when Benjamin S. Jones took the reins again and ran the newspaper until it ceased publication in 1862. The Bugle presented the cause of the abolitionist in the most favorable manner and depicted slaveholders in terms far less complimentary.

SALEM, BY 1846, had grown into a good sized town and could boast of two Friends meeting houses, two Baptist, one Methodist and one Presbyterian church, a classical academy, 24 mercantile stores, two woolen factories, three foundries, one grist-mill, two engine shops and about 1,300 inhabitants.

When the war with Mexico erupted in 1846 the Bugle's staff interpreted this as an attempt, on the part of southern slave interests, to extend the system of slavery into the lands to be conquered from the war.

On Aug. 14, 1846 the Bugle referred to the American troops fighting in Mexico as those who "are fighting for slavery." All of the Salem readers of the Bugle did not read it with the same level of appreciation. Across the front page of the Oct. 14, 1846 issue which had been mistakenly delivered to a Mr. P. Wright was the following injunction: "I wish you to please discontinue sending the Anti Liberty Bugle, erroneously called the Anti slavery Bugle, as I never subscribed to it and do not wish to read it."

The slavery issue was the most popular reform movement in Salem, but not the only one. Temperance causes, anti-masonic movements, religious revivals, even Mesmerism proponents and water cure enthusiasts vied for popular support. A remarkable facet of conservative Quaker Salem in the 1830's, 40's, and 50's was the tendency to listen to all types of appeals, many of which were extreme.

Americans Like to Work

Sociologists, psychologists and a variety of other experts on people have debated for years whether American workers were prepared for the increase in leisure time offered them by a steady shortening of the standard work week.

The problem has taken on new significance in recent years, but the emphasis in the discussion has shifted from the sociological to the economic sphere as labor leaders plug for drastic new reductions in the work week as a way to spread the work and reduce unemployment.

Significant, therefore, is a startling report by a Twentieth Century Fund research team that the prevalent belief the American worker has more leisure is—as President Kennedy would have said at Yale—a myth.

Although the so-called standard work week has been shortened from 70 to 39 hours since 1850 and machines have lightened the work load, the average worker still labors more than he lolls, according to the report.

ONE REASON is that moonlighting—working at one or more extra jobs—has become increasingly possible as shorter hours were required on the basic job. Other reasons reflect the change in America's style of living. Workers spend more time traveling to and from their jobs and homeowners, of which there are more than there used to be, devote sizable segments of their so-called leisure hours to do-it-yourself projects.

The researchers' report has both sociological and economic significance.

On the former, the report said Americans' problem is that they don't really know what leisure is. They view it more as time spent on recreational pursuits than as a state of mind, which is the way philosophers define it. It is almost axiomatic that Americans work hard even at recreation.

As for economics, the report verifies a rebuttal often tossed at organized labor's demand for shorter hours to spread the work and reduce unemployment. As has been pointed out, employers often find it cheaper to pay overtime than to hire additional workers and pay increased costs for unemployment and workmen's compensation and fringe benefits.

EVEN IF that were not the case, however, the Twentieth Century Fund report indicates the workers themselves would interfere with the application of the labor leaders' theory. What "leisure" time they did not devote to moonlighting they probably would spend on do-it-yourself projects which might otherwise go to professionals.

The controlling factor in the whole situation, of course, is a characteristic on which Americans have always prided themselves: Boundless energy and a basic belief in the goodness of work.

Increased technology, more highly organized labor unions, improved pension plans and all the other vast changes in our national work life have not changed that fundamental characteristic.

Any theory that fails to take that fact into account will never be more than a theory.

Kremlin Must Compromise Itself

Secretary of State Rusk's latest public warning of the perils of continuing the arms race contained nothing really new.

He listed four major dangers, including the increasing risk of accidentally triggering global nuclear war, the spread of "independent" nuclear development, the threat of extending potential battlegrounds into outer space and the waste of talent and resources on destructive inventions.

He said again what Western leaders have been saying for years: Russia alone can signal the end of the perilous arms race by recognizing no disarmament agreement is possible unless it is willing to give up its secrecy.

THE PERILS Mr. Rusk listed remain essentially the same as those that have motivated disarmament talks since the end of World War II and the communist rejection of the necessary open-inspection provision is the same factor that has doomed all previous disarmament talks.

The stalemate continues despite the fact the goals of disarmament basically are as desirable to the communists, as human beings, as they are to Westerners.

Nikita Khrushchev and his Kremlin colleagues do not relish the prospect of annihilation in a nuclear war; they cannot enjoy the likelihood that Red China will develop a nuclear capability; they desperately need to devote more of their resources and energies to improving the lot of their subjects if they are to convince anyone that communism is the wave of the future.

BUT KHRUSHCHEV and his Kremlin colleagues have a problem with secrecy: Their dictatorship would collapse without it.

They must continue to try to have their cake and eat it, too. As Mr. Rusk explained, that is not possible.

Disarmament talks always will be doomed until the Kremlin crew finds a way to compromise its desire for a better domestic world for itself and its necessity to operate in an atmosphere of secrecy.

It's doubtful that compromise will be found in this generation, if ever.

'You Couldn't Pay Me To . . .'

A transportation expert has issued a warning to municipal planners to go slow in applying a philosophy that private autos should be discouraged in downtown areas.

The philosophy, derived from desperate but sincere efforts to solve city traffic problems, has been gaining some favor of late. Several months back there was even a suggestion that New York City ban private autos from its downtown streets. But this generally is considered too radical and serious proponents of the philosophy tend to support an increase in the cost of driving to encourage the use of public transit systems.

IT WON'T WORK, according to Leon N. Moses, research director of Northwestern University's transportation center. The effect of such a plan, he says, would be to speed the trend toward outlying stores and offices and reduce the number of people who work downtown.

The reason, Mr. Moses declares, is that most people nowadays wouldn't ride public transit systems even if you paid them. That was the gist of a survey the university center conducted in Chicago, which has traffic problems only slightly better than New York's.

Nobody, apparently, disputes the logic of using public transportation. It is easier on the nerves and probably cheaper over the long haul, even at the prices mass transit systems must charge these days because of the snub they get from the mass public.

BUT THE PUBLIC sees an advantage in the convenience and, we suspect, the status symbolism of driving one's own automobile downtown that outweighs the logic of using public transportation.

Thus the Chicago study showed that only 50 per cent of auto commuters would switch to transit systems even if they were paid to do so. And, that being the case, traffic conditions downtown would be only slightly improved, the experts concluded.

New Labor Law

By Richard Spong

President Kennedy may have good reason to send to Congress his recommendations for new labor measures somewhat earlier than had been anticipated. The West Coast seamen automatically may resume their strike on June 30, when the 80-day Taft-Hartley injunction expires.

The administration is reported to consider the last offer of the employers a fair one. The offer was simple — "arbitration of all working conditions and monetary increases."

Under the Taft-Hartley Act, a vote of union members on management's last offer is required. This ballot has become a formality. Union members have consistently voted down the last offer by large margins.

West Coast leaders are urging their members to vote no or not to vote at all. Resumption of the strike would put the ball squarely back in the President's court. For all big labor's complaint that Taft-Hartley is a "slave-labor act," and for all that the Democrats, long pledged to its repeal, have controlled Congress except in the first two years of the Eisenhower administration, the statute has remained on the books substantially unchanged.

The present administration appears disposed toward revision, though not necessarily in a direction calculated to delight union leaders.

The President's Advisory Committee on Labor Management in May proposed, although by no means unanimously, that the act be amended to give the President more authority and flexibility in dealing with industrial conflicts that threaten the national health and safety.

Specifically, an emergency fact-finding board would be given the power—now denied it—to recommend terms of settlement.

And the President would be given the power—without going to the courts—to declare an emergency and require a resumption of work for 80 days. The last-offer bailout would be dropped.

Also, the President would be given a really new settlement weapon. After the report of the fact-finding board he would be authorized "to direct the parties to continue or resume operations in whole, or, to the extent practicable, in part, until agreement regarding the dispute was reached, but in no event longer than 80 days."

In other words, he could exert settlement pressures on both labor and management by ordering business-as-usual for one segment of an industry, while the remainder continued idle.

The president is empowered under present law to send recommendations to Congress after the 80-day injunction has run out in a national emergency strike.

This means as applied to the West Coast seamen that once the strike was resumed he could recommend specific measures for that dispute alone, avoiding the broad approach to Taft-Hartley.

He could recommend seizure of the industry, with work continuing at present pay scales. He could use the U.S. Navy to service areas cut off by the maritime strike, justifying the measure as in the public interest. Or he could ask Congress itself to provide a solution, though this would seem out of character.

Whether he postpones broad revision of Taft-Hartley or not, the course the President takes in the maritime dispute will be viewed as an accurate weather-vane for future policy

'We'll Send Prints to Everybody'

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

On the gracious green lawn behind the Shoreham Hotel one recent night, banker and "boss"—as the old revolutionary songs have it—mixed with national labor chiefs. As they cocktailed at the edge of the fountain you could not tell the difference between executives — labor and business — without a guide. This scene flashed back to me as I examined financial statements gotten up for the first time in history, and just made available by the secretary of labor, Arthur Goldberg.

These disclosed that the union with the biggest gross receipts is the United Steelworkers of America. In 1961, it can now be reported exclusively, the steel union took in more than $65.12 million. Of this amount, some $57 million was in dues. More than $4 million more came from investments, sales of land, rentals on buildings, etc.

OF THE DUES, about half (almost $29 million) was turned back to the locals.

I have before me the list of the 10 "wealthiest" unions in the land.

Running a close second to the Steelworkers is the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. Last year they collected from all sources — dues, initiation fees, profits on investments in mortgages and housing projects, etc., $62.27 million.

Next in sequence according to income is Walter Reuther's United Auto Workers. It booked $50.66 million.

Then the International Typographical Union with $25.98 million. In this international union also is the nation's most solvent local unit. This is the "Big Six" of New York City. It grossed $11.8 million. This figure includes the receipts of the sale of bonds totaling over 5 million.

Fifth of the national unions is Dave Dubinsky's Ladies' Garment Workers. It totaled $21.7 million.

Then the Brotherhood of Carpenters with $20.11 million. Right behind the Carpenters is the International Association of Machinists which amassed $8.72 million. Then the John L. Lewis United Mine Workers with $18.57 million. Next is the Brotherhood of Railroad Employees with $12.35 million.

ODDLY ENOUGH, the last in this top ten is Jimmy Hoffa's Teamsters Brotherhood. In '61 it took in $11.84 million. Since then the union has increased its dues to give it another eight or 10 million dollars a year.

These hundreds of million of dollars for these 10 unions are cash "inflow" for "outgo."

These funds should not be confused with special pools of cash, such as vacation funds, which are held by some national unions for the people. Nor should the figures be confused with the more than 500 billion dollars in pension money. Nor with the $1.5 billion in assets, such as real estate, bonds and other investments of the national unions whose resources have been totaled by the U.S. Labor Department.

Fascinating, too, are reports of salaries paid to union officials. Many of the most prominent leaders do not average $500-a-week.

Yet there are those who jet propel upwards. The general president of the Operating Engineers, Joseph J. Delaney received a wage in '61 of $55,000. Also allowances of $17,825.

THERE ALSO is the general president of the International Hod Carriers', Building and Common Laborers' Union. Chap by the name of Joseph V. Moreschi. He has been president for as long as many a man can remember. Now he has a basic salary of $50,000 yearly. So that he doesn't feel pinched, in 1961 he was permitted allowances of $9,000 and he had an additional $9,375.35 in reimbursed expenses. This totals $68,375.35. Only in America . . .

We are truly an egalitarian society. Both the Hod Carriers and the Operating Engineers report expenditures for college training of some of their members. At Harvard.

The Hod Carriers spent $6,620.20 on this program. The Operating Engineers seem not quite certain of themselves on this front. They only spent $6,791.77 on "tuition and expenses for members attending Harvard University."

Oh, come on. Send a few more. That school has proved itself.

Nuclear Stalemate

By DAVID LAWRENCE

JFK Develops Sound Policy on A-Weapons

Sometimes the obvious is either overlooked or doesn't sink in right away. A case in point is what's happening in America's relations with the Soviet Union.

A stalemate is really now in effect. Will it develop into one of those long periods of peace in world history based on the maintenance of a "balance of power" without a big war?

Thus, it is obvious that Premier Khrushchev, without signing an agreement with this country, and President Kennedy, without signing an agreement with Moscow, both have come separately to the conclusion that Red China's possession of nuclear weapons could lead to a nuclear war which might destroy everybody. If nuclear arms are to be withheld from Red China by Russia, isn't it logical then for the United States, as a balancing factor, to withhold nuclear weapons from France or any other country hereafter?

Back of this unwritten understanding emerges, as always in diplomacy, a powerful reason why a given policy makes sense from the standpoint of both sides.

Red China could be an irresponsible wielder of nuclear weapons. This could lead to a nuclear war that could destroy Russia as well as other areas of the world. Hence Moscow is unwilling to build up Red China as a nuclear power.

France, of course, wouldn't be irresponsible or go counter to American desires but if the United States distributes nuclear data and equipment and helps build up other nations allied with it, the Soviet Union couldn't logically withhold nuclear knowledge and weapons from Red China.

Now this doesn't mean that America intends to reduce in any way its nuclear power. Nor is there to be any hesitation about using nuclear weapons if circumstances ever require it.

What is planned is to concentrate nuclear power inside the NATO alliance for defensive purposes in Europe and leave the main control to the United States because the truly big missile bases are in this country.

A MOST significant address on the subject was delivered by Secretary of Defense McNamara. It was prepared after the most intensive study by Secretary of State Rusk and officials of all departments concerned, as well as by President Kennedy.

Writer's Credo

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"My big ambition as a child was not to be poor," said Robert Ruark, who likes to be known as the world's fastest two-finger typist.

"Money doesn't by itself mean happiness, but it's a hell of a necessity. A guy who can buy a bottle of whisky is better off than a guy who can't buy a bottle."

"There's nothing you can do poor that you can't do better rich — except beg."

At 46, Ruark, columnist turned novelist, is in no imminent danger of having to hold out a tin cup to passers-by.

"Everything I saw that I wanted I chased; everything I chased I caught; everything I caught I enjoyed."

"But life is a matter of giving, too. Everything I got I gave something of myself first to get."

There was no mention of France but the speech was aimed at answering Gen. de Gaulle's argument for a separate national nuclear force of his own. Mr. McNamara, without referring to the Soviet relationship to Red China, made this statement which applies to both sides in the "cold war".

"The creation of a single additional national nuclear force encourages the proliferation of nuclear power with all of its attendant dangers."

Now the word "proliferate" means to "grow by multiplying new parts in quick succession."

If Red China gets nuclear weapons from the Soviet Union, members of the Communist bloc in Europe — Poland or Czechoslovakia — would demand them, too.

And if West Germany had a nuclear force of its own, East Germany would want to be protected by some kind of nuclear strength.

EVEN THOUGH these might be small forces in themselves, they could add up to an array of national units, any one of which could plunge the world into a nuclear war overnight. Secretary McNamara put it this way in his speech:

"In short, then, limited nuclear capabilities, operating independently, are dangerous, expensive, prone to obsolescence and lacking in credibility as a deterrent."

Mr. McNamara mentioned that the United States during the coming fiscal year will spend close to $15 billion on its nuclear weapons "to insure their adequacy."

This is tantamount to saying that a severe economic drain would arise in any country that sought to become a nuclear power. And yet proficiency in nuclear warfare would not be attained.

Hence the building of nuclear strength for military purposes by any power except the United States and the Soviet Union would be a costly, dangerous and, indeed, superfluous project. Even Great Britain is finding it an expensive undertaking, and its contributions hereafter will be largely supplementary and not independent of NATO.

Secretary Rusk has gone to Paris to argue all this out with Gen. de Gaulle, but the McNamara speech laid the main points on the line ahead of time.

President Kennedy has, therefore, developed a sound policy, and, since it happens by coincidence to be based on the very same kind of argument that appeals to the Soviet government in its relations with Red China, the world may hope for a period of "stalemate."

friends know he was passing through town.

"But I think it's about time I quit that sort of thing," he remarked.

He smokes 80 cigarettes a day — "but only about an inch of each" — and still restlessly travels from 100,000 to 150,000 miles a year.

But the boy is growing older and feels now he'd like to settle down for a while.

Ruark owns a Rolls-Royce, homes in London and Spain, and keeps busy a staff of 15 servants, secretaries and agents.

Bob's credo:

"Everything I saw that I wanted I chased; everything I chased I caught; everything I caught I enjoyed."

"But life is a matter of giving, too. Everything I got I gave something of myself first to get."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Several months ago someone wrote to you lambasting office collections. The writer complained that every week somebody came around to collect 50 cents for flowers, a baby gift or a retirement present. He signed himself "Bled White."

When I read that letter I agreed with the writer because I, too, had been hit so often. Something happened last week that changed my mind. I landed in the hospital.

It's difficult to explain the wonderful, warm glow that passed over me when the nurse brought in a beautiful bouquet of red roses. The card read "Hurry Back. We miss you." Then I saw 14 signatures of those who had chipped in for the flowers.

I'm not a sentimental guy but I think I wiped away a couple of tears when the nurse left the room.

I'll never feel imposed on again when a collection is made at our office. I'm deeply ashamed it took a lesson like this to teach me.—OTHER FOOT.

Now Here This

Dear Ann- My husband thinks your column is rich. He reads it religiously and often says, "Listen to this—" then he'll read a letter aloud and say, "Doesn't this one sound like So and So?"

It's strange how people see everyone else's faults but they never recognize their own. You've had a few letters lately about husbands who ignore their wives' physical needs but my cold fish doesn't catch the drift.

We have three children and a lovely home. My husband doesn't drink or gamble or look at other women. He says he loves me but he shows no sign of affection unless I make the first move. Maybe I'm a romantic fool but I don't believe it's the woman's place to be aggressive in love like a hussy.

I hope you print this letter. If you do I promise to say, "Listen to THIS ONE. I wrote it!"—SPARROW.

Dear Sparrow: Some men need a woman who is aggressive in love making. Apparently you drew this type of man.

There's no need to feel like a hussy if you must make the first move. Some of the most interesting women in history were aggressive types. When the situation calls for this approach the smart woman recognizes it and is equal to it.

Battle or Debate

Dear Ann: Our teen-age daughter was visiting in the home of a girl friend last night and the girl's parents got into an argument.

It was embarrassing for our daughter to be in on a family quarrel. She asked her friend to drive her home. The friend refused, saying all families have arguments and that she should pay no attention. Our daughter stayed and had a miserable evening.

I told her this morning she should have telephoned home and asked her father or me to come and get her. She says this would have been rude. I say it would have been better manners than staying around and witnessing a family fight.

May we have your opinion?—TRIANGLE.

Dear Triangle: It depends on the nature of the fight. If it was just a few moments of disagreement, your daughter should have ignored it. If, however, it was a knock-down-drag-out battle, your daughter should have called home for transportation.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN
 'Take It Easy'—Avoid Altitude Sickness

This summer, many thousands of us will take transcontinental auto trips that will take us over mountain passes rising to 10,000 feet. In some instances, the ascent will be made in the matter of a few hours.

In preparation for these ascents, the monthly bulletin of the American Heart Assn. has issued these words of information and caution:

You need not fear the manifestations of altitude sickness while going over these passes if you are in good physical condition and if you can plan your trip so that you do not have to speed from about sea level to the height of the pass.

However, if you have any trouble with your lungs or your heart, you would be wise to check with your doctor before you map your trip.

Whether well or slightly incapacitated, prepare for the ascent by getting a good night's sleep, and by avoiding alcoholic beverages and smoking for at least 24 to 48 hours.

ABOUT AN HOUR before beginning the ascent, take a good breakfast. But do not eat again during the remainder of the trip.

When you arrive at the high altitude area, indulge in a minimum of physical activity for at least 24 hours. Prolong this period of rest as long as may be necessary if you register any of the symptoms of altitude sickness. These consist of drowsiness, headache, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, dizziness and irritability or blueness of lips, ears, nose or nailbeds.

In the presence of any manifestation of altitude sickness, rest quietly and take only light nourishment. If the symptoms are more than mild or are persistent, local authorities (such as rangers in National Parks) will be able to direct you to facilities where oxygen can be administered.

Do not worry about altitude sickness if you are traveling in the pressurized cabin of a plane. Even at 30,000 to 40,000 feet and at temperatures of 40 below zero, you will be unaware of any change in atmospheric conditions.

FRESH CHERRY TARTS

(Yield: 8 servings)

1 envelope unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 2-3 cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 eggs, 1½ cups milk, 1 cup sliced fresh sweet cherries, ½ cup heavy cream, whipped, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract, 1 cup pitted fresh sweet cherries, cut in half, 2 tablespoons sugar, ½ teaspoon cornstarch, whipped cream for garnish.

Soften gelatin in cold water and set aside. Combine the 2-3 cup sugar, salt and eggs in a saucepan on top part of a double boiler. Stir in milk. Cook over very low heat or hot water (not boiling) until the mixture coats a metal spoon. Remove from heat. Chill until the mixture begins to thicken.

Fold in sliced berries, whipped cream and pure vanilla extract. Turn into baked tart shells. Chill until ready to serve. Mix cherries with the 2 tablespoons sugar. Let stand 1 hour.

Drain juice into a measuring cup and add water to make ½ cup. Add cornstarch and mix until smooth. Cook until clear and slightly thick. Cool. Arrange cherries over tops of tarts, over which spoon cherry glaze. Chill. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

Here's Best Way For Roasting Beef

The most regal of meats is the standing rib roast of beef. For best results, follow these instructions:

Select beef with good red color and a covering of fat. Store in refrigerator (36 to 40 degrees F.) as soon as possible after it is purchased, either in the original transparent wrap, or unwrap and cover loosely. Should be used in 5 to 8 days.

The roast is cooked without covering and without adding moisture. Place in an open pan with the ribs down to form a natural rack. Place the boneless, rolled roast on a rack to hold it up out of the juices in the pan. Use a slow oven (325 degrees F.) for more even cooking, less shrinking, and less oven spattering.

Use roast meat thermometer for best guide to doneness or else this time table:

4 to 6 pounds with bone, rare, 1 3-4 hours.

8 pounds or more with bone, rare, 2¼ hours; medium, 2½ hours.

For boned roast of beef, add 10 minutes more per pound to times given above.

Either the bone-in or the boneless rib roast may be cooked on the turning spit in a portable or standard oven or over charcoal. For ease in balancing the bone-in roast, the ribs should be cut short; that is, 5 to 7 inches from the chine bone to the ends of the ribs. Run the spit through the roast parallel to and close to the ribs. The roast balances well as it turns and, when carved, the slices have not been pierced as they would have been if the spit had been put through the center of the muscle.

TO CARVE: Place the standing rib roast flat side down, ribs to the left of the carver. Insert the carving fork, tines down, between the top and second ring. Slice across the roast right to left, making a ¼-inch slice. Remove the knife and, with the tip, cut along the side of the rib bone to free the slice. With the fork and knife, remove the slice to the platter. Continue slicing, removing rib bones as each one is cut from the meat.

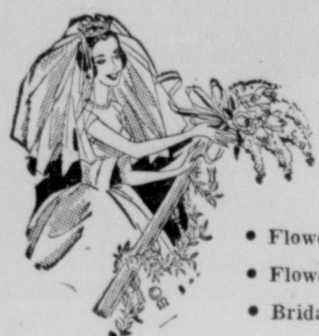

Place a rolled rib roast with the flat side down on the platter. Cut across the face of the roast, parallel to the platter.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Cooking for two can be a difficult job because of leftovers. So ... when I remove a package of frozen vegetables from my freezer I just cut it in two. I cook only half of the box and put the other half back in the freezer. Eliminates leftovers.

We keep worn leather gloves for two purposes. We keep a pair in the shoeshine kit so that before we polish our shoes we can put them on. This eliminates soiled hands and the nearly impossible task of removing some types of shoe polish.

Some worn leather gloves, which have only the finger tips abused, can be cut off and used for golf gloves, which are expensive. The "home-mades" always fit beautifully, too.

The end of a cork (the kind used for a bottle stopper) may be dipped in scouring powder and used to scour non-stainless steel knives. Removes rust marks, brings the knife back to its original lustre and also sharpens the knife.

GEORGINE DOYLE

DEAR HELOISE:

Yesterday I had two spray cans that the fizz went out of before they were half empty, my vacuum cleaner bag broke and the hot water heater went kaffooy. Do you ever have days like this? I just can't take it.

USUAL HOUSEWIFE

DEAR ONE OF US:

Yesterday, I went to the freezer for a loaf of bread. Someone had left the freezer door open and I had to stop and cook all turkey, chickens, lobster and hamburger! Boy, was I mad! (I made TV dinners from it all).

A hot dutch oven of barbecued ribs was waiting to be put in the oven. My daughter knocked it off the drainboard! What a mess. Have you ever tried to get grease and barbecue off an asphalt floor? Also, the glass casserole broke.

Then I was cooking blackeyed peas and when I was salting them, the top of the salt shaker came off. Had to dump the peas.

On top of that, my dear friend, I accidentally got one of my good silver spoons down the garbage disposal! We all have these days. They just will come.

You can take it gal! I did. We all have to. One thing about it ... we can thank the heavens that this isn't daily routine.

UNDERSTANDING WRITER

DEAR HELOISE:

About the woman who wrote that she had been putting her clothes in her deep freeze for 10 years: Wouldn't they be somewhat out of style by now?

MARC FITE

DEAR HELOISE:

To help keep your desk drawer neat, thumbtack a variety of sizes of cardboard boxes to the bottom of the drawer. Gives you a place for stamps, paper clips, envelopes, bills and pencils.

MRS. N. BERRY

DEAR HELOISE:

Lubricating oil penetrates some concrete readily. The oil should be mopped off immediately, and the spot covered with Fullers earth or some other dry, powdered material such as dehydrated lime. If treated soon enough there will be no stain.

However, when the oil has stood for some time, other methods may be necessary.

Saturate white Canton flannel with a mixture of equal parts of acetone and amyl acetate and place over the stain. Cover with a slab of concrete or pane of glass. Keep the cloth saturated until the stain is removed.

If the solvent tends to spread the stain, a larger cloth should be used.

Covering the saturated cloth with glass drives the stain into the concrete, while the dry slab of concrete draws some oil into it. Scrubbing with solvent or benzine will often remove oil stains.

Engineers

great pleasure at what he termed "a statesmanlike agreement."

In a statement released by White House press secretary Pierre Salinger, Kennedy said company officers, union officials and government mediators who took part in marathon sessions leading to the settlement "are deserving of praise."

A strike, poised for more than a week, was held off only moment to moment as the negotiators went over terms of a settlement proposal offered Tuesday—just as the 2 p.m. strike deadline arrived—by Goldberg.

The government hoped the proposal—a carefully worked out plan aimed at solving the long and tangled airlines labor wrangle—would also extend to two other airlines involved in the dispute, Pan American World and Eastern Airlines.

But a split within the 3,000-member AFL-CIO Flight Engineers International Association threatened to throw a monkey wrench into these plans.

The union suddenly withdrew its offer to arbitrate outstanding economic issues with Pan Am and Eastern.

While economic conditions are a part of the dispute, the key issue involves reduction of jet cockpit crews from four men to three. Both the engineers' union and the Airline Pilots Association have claimed jurisdiction over the third-man's job in the reconstituted crews.

INDICTED FOR MURDER

FREMONT Ohio (AP) — Raymond C. Glasser, 66, who police said feuded for years with his neighbor, J. Merton Van Ness, 53, was indicted Wednesday by a Sandusky County grand jury for first-degree murder in the shotgun death of Van Ness. Van Ness was shot in the eye while sitting on his tractor.

U. S., France Deadlocked On A-Arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are beginning to face up to the hard reality that France is determined to build its own nuclear weapons force whether they like it or not.

They are, therefore, becoming increasingly concerned with ways of eventually diverting the French effort into a new NATO nuclear weapons partnership for which the United States itself would have to make some concessions.

The problem of breaking the nuclear weapons deadlock within the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance has dominated the consultations held by Secretary of State Dean Rusk with President Charles de Gaulle and other French leaders in Paris. If De Gaulle and President Kennedy meet later this year, as Paris reports suggest is possible, it will undoubtedly be to try to find a solution to this problem.

Indications of the new U.S. approach were disclosed in a speech on nuclear weapons strategy that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara made last Saturday at the University of Michigan. McNamara declared it is an urgent need, possibly involving the survival of Western civilization, that NATO countries agree on the coordination of targeting plans—the selection of targets against which a nuclear attack would be directed in event of all-out war—and the circumstances under which nuclear weapons would be employed.

McNamara's speech was sharply critical of the French plan to create a national nuclear force, though he did not mention France by name. This led in Europe to considerable counter criticism to the effect that the United States is trying to dictate to its Allies.

One well-informed official, privately discussing the U.S. policy implications in the McNamara speech, said today "we are not giving up on our opposition to a French national force but we are now trying to think beyond that."

Other officials said that if the European allies in consultation with the United States through the NATO council at Paris produce a workable formula for a NATO partnership they will find the Kennedy administration completely cooperative.

One possibility reported to be under consideration is the creation of some kind of NATO command for strategic nuclear weapons. The initial effort of such an organization probably would be to integrate nuclear weapons strategies of the various allied governments including the United States.

At present the NATO military command has some control over the possible use of U.S. nuclear weapons stationed in Europe although they are primarily controlled by agreements between Washington and the countries on whose territory they are. The U.S. strategic force, including American-based missiles and the Strategic Air Command, are controlled in Washington although there is some coordination with NATO strategic planning.

Two Are Treated Following Fight

Kenneth Manis, 32, of 145 W. Pershing St. is in good condition at Central Clinic where he was admitted Wednesday night at 7:30 with a dislocated right shoulder following a fight at the rear of his home over a thrown brick that injured Manis' brother.

Kenneth Manis told authorities some young men in a lot next door threw a brick that struck his 19-year-old brother, Donald, on the forehead. A fight broke out between the two brothers and the brick throwers, resulting in the older Manis' injury. The younger Manis was treated at the Clinic for a cut on his forehead and released.

Police who investigated said no charges were filed.

Election Campaign Cost Reports Filed

Six more candidates and committees have reported May 8 primary campaign expenses to the County Election Board at East Liverpool, starting a rush to beat the deadline for sworn statements Friday afternoon at 4.

James W. Boyd of East Liverpool RD. who won a three-way race for county commissioner, said his expenses totaled $347. William H. Weir of Perry Township, one of his opponents, reported expenses of $271.

T. Emerson Smith of Salem, GOP nominee for county auditor, said he spent $374. Boyd Wallace of Harrison County, unsuccessful contender for the GOP nomination for state senate, listed expenses of $552.

The levy committee of the Columbiana County Council for Retarded Children spent a total of $1,200 in a drive for the levy which was approved to provide funds for operating the Retarded Children's School.

The political education committee of the Salem Junior Mothers Club spent $78.62, according to a report filed by Nettie J. Campbell, committee chairman.

The election Board said all winners now have filed the report cannot be issued until the statements are filed.

The reports are required of all candidates, whether or not they were successful, and from committees that supported or opposed any candidate or issue.

Woman Injured As Car Leaves Road

Mrs. Thelma I. Riley, 40, of 810 Sharp Ave. is in fair condition with back and head injuries at South Side Hospital in Youngstown where she was taken early this morning after her car struck a telephone pole in the heavy fog at Canfield.

The State Highway Patrol reported Mrs. Riley was driving south on Lockwood Blvd. and failed to stop at the Route 224 intersection, known as Starrs Corners. The car slid into an embankment, clearing a deep ditch as it leaped 20 feet in the air and sideswiped a utility pole. The accident occurred at 5:20 a.m.

The Patrol said she would be cited for unsafe operation.

Chief Paul Crawford of Franklin Township gave the welcoming speech. President Paul J. Adams of East Palestine presided at the business meeting.

A discussion of radio communications revealed that departments now sharing police radio frequency will have to have their own frequency by October, 1963.

The speaker of the evening was Clarence Wetzel, state representative from Lisbon, whose topic was "How Bills Become Laws."

Robert McIntosh, forestry division warden of the Department of Natural Resources of Ohio, presented a color film, "Volunteer Firemen," which showed different methods used to extinguish fire in both grass and forest areas.

Entertainment was provided by John Gruszecki, principal of Franklin School, who performed magic tricks.

Officer

Concord, testified that it is a family hotel and has no B-girl entertainers. He said the Concord abides faithfully by its contracts with the union.

Patsner and other hotel officials corroborated testimony by two subcommittee investigators that Bright had accepted complimentary vacations at the hotel in 1959, 1960 and 1961. Adelman told the subcommittee that the Taft-Hartley labor law forbids such favors, and the Landrum-Griffin Act makes it a felony for a union official to fail to disclose to the Labor Department the acceptance of anything of value from an employer who deals with the union.

Investigator Morris J. Emanuel, on loan from the Labor Department, said Bright never filed reports to the agency about the vacations. Emanuel contended he had told the labor official about this requirement in 1960, and that Bright claimed then to have paid his bills.

The subcommittee produced documents from the hotel's files which showed, Emanuel said, that Bright never did pay for $6,039.05 of his room and board bills at the Concord covering the three years at issue, and owed it more than $10,000 until April.

He said Bright had paid $1,718.46 on Sept. 6, 1960, after Emanuel talked to him about the bills; $4,079.26 last April 12, after the subcommittee started looking at the hotel charges, plus $1,226.20 in 1959, 1960 and 1961.

ing sites.

Panama has two potential places for new canals, both between the present canal and the Colombian border. One would begin on the Atlantic side at the sheltered Gulf of San Blas, connect with a major river about midway across the isthmus, and follow it to the Pacific. The other would start on the Atlantic side and tie into the Sabana River and end in another protected area, the Gulf of San Miguel.

The Colombian site, near the Panama border, would utilize the Atrato and Truando rivers to cross a land area of about 90 miles, against about 50 miles for the Panama sites. The present canal is 40 miles long.

All three sites, one informed source said, would lend themselves to the idea of a sea level canal, which would eliminate the need for the costly locks system used in the Panama waterway and speed transits through the canal.

From 1951 to 1961 cargo moved through the Panama Canal increased from 31.3 million tons to 65.2 million, and the number of crossings by ocean-going vessels rose from 5,593 to 10,866.

New Waterford Fire Is Extinguished

NEW WATERFORD — Volunteer firemen warmed up for their street fair Wednesday night by extinguishing a blaze that caused about $200 damage to a combination barn and garage at the home of Delmer Dyke of Taylor Ave.

Fire Chief Joe Fittante reported that children playing in the barn apparently set the fire at 6:30 p.m., one-half hour before the firemen's street fair was to open for the third night of activity.

Fittante says crowds, beamed in by a huge twirling spotlight, continues good despite the unseasonal chill. A parade will highlight Friday's festivities at 7. The fair will close Saturday night.

which should have been deposited to the credit of the sewer revenue fund.

Over-all collections during the period of the audit were $799,011, including $437,885 for the water revenue account, and $361,116 as sewer rentals.

The audit disclosed that cash stubs and cash sheets were not accounted for in the department's cash book, and that the collections were not reflected as deposits in the city's treasurer. In many cases, the examiner said, consumers produced cancelled checks as proof of payment after they had been billed as delinquents.

In additions to the findings for recovery, the report also cited another $2,925 as a finding for adjustment. This resulted from an error in the distribution of water rent collections which had been deposited to the credit of the sewer revenue fund.

Miss Smith, a $335-a-month employee, had worked for the department nearly 10 years. She was placed on a leave of absence initially and later given a dismissal notice.

Snap Beans Provide Food Pace Change

Everybody eats snap beans. Between July and September, when the supply of fresh beans is most plentiful, they appear on most American dinner tables at least once a week.

However, to make their appearance more interesting and to provide a change of pace, try these two new recipes.

Savory Fresh Snap Beans

(Yield: 6 servings)
1 pound fresh snap beans, 1 clove garlic, 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 small onions, sliced, 1 1/2 teaspoons soy sauce, 3/4 cup chicken broth or 3/4 cup hot water and 1 chicken bouillon cube, 3/4 teaspoon salt or salt to taste, 1 cup cooked leftover ham or chicken strips, 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper.

Wash beans, remove tips, cut French style and set aside. Chop garlic fine, mix with ground ginger and brown in 1 tablespoon of

Richard Hanna

John H. Altenhof, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Altenhof, RD 2, Salem, Thomas L. Sell, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sell, RD 1, Hanoverton, and Richard Hanna, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hanna RD 4, Lisbon, have enlisted in the US Army for a three-year period under the "Buddy Assignment" plan, which guarantees them that they will receive their eight weeks of basic training together.

Altenhof, a June graduate of United High School, will be trained in the finance procedures course at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Sell, also a 1962 high school graduate at United, and Hanna who attended United Local and one year at Massanutten Military Academy, Woodstock, Va., chose to be trained in motor transport.

The three young men enlisted at the local recruiting station which is now located at 115 S. Broadway.

The three buddies will leave June 25 for Ft. Jackson, S.C., for basic training.

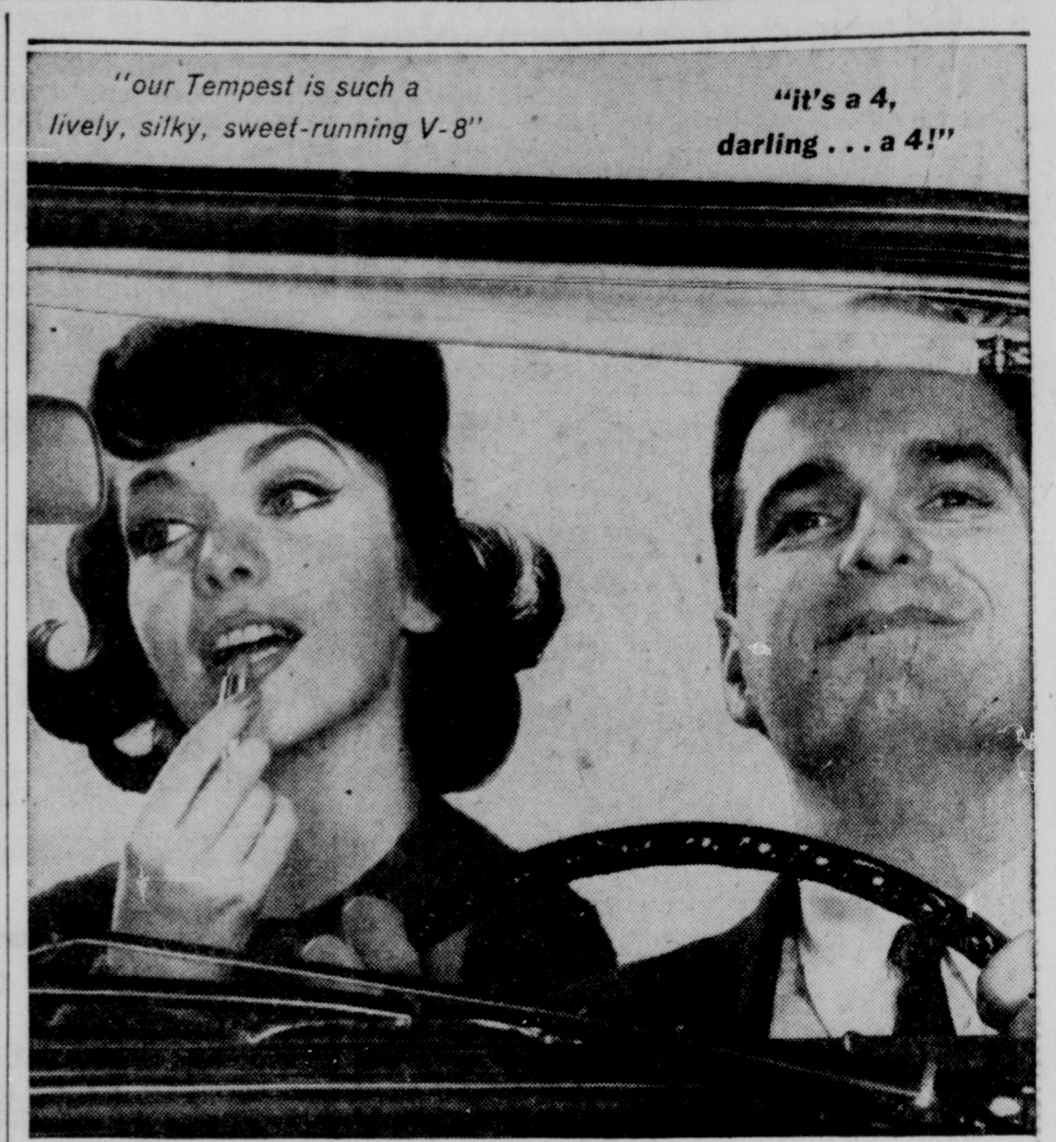

Cover and cook 8 to 10 minutes or until beans are tender. In the meantime, saute onions until transparent in butter or margarine. Drain beans and add to onions. Add salt, black pepper and chopped dill. Toss lightly. Top with sieved hard-cooked egg. Garnish with additional chopped fresh dill.

the butter or margarine. Add onion slices, beans and soy sauce. Mix well. Stir in chicken broth or chicken bouillon cube dissolved in hot water. Cover and cook over gentle heat until beans are crisp-tender. Add remaining ingredients. Toss lightly. Serve at once.

Snap Beans with Fresh Dill

(Yield: 6 servings)

1 pound fresh snap beans, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 inch boiling water in saucepan, 1 cup diced onion, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper, 2 tablespoons fresh dill, 1 hard-cooked egg, sieved, fresh dill for garnish. # Lisbon Social

At a pretty summer wedding, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Steffen of Lisbon RD and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Gipe of Malvern, Iowa.

Ralph Falconer of Wellsville presented nuptial music at the organ and Miss Carol Diffee of North Bend, Neb., college roommate of the bride sang "The wedding streamers tied in lovers Not to Leave Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white peau de soie with scoop neckline and adorned with lace appliques and rosettes.

A small crown of seed pearls held her finger tip veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies and stephanotis with satin wedding streamers tied in lovers knots.

Miss Linda Lou Steffen was her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. She was attired in a street length dress of moss green silk organza and matching pill box hat with circular veil. Her cascade bouquet was of lavender and blue shaggy daisies.

Larry Gipe of Houston, Texas, served his brother as best man and ushers were William Steffen bride, Larry Bryant, Terry Cole of Omaha, Neb., and Jack Gaham of Whittier, Calif.

Mrs. Steffen chose a blue silk organza ensemble with white accessories for her daughter's wedding complemented with a white orchid corsage.

The groom's mother wore a beige dress with purple accessories enhanced with an orchid corsage to match.

A reception was held for 100 guests on the lawn of the church. The bride's table was attractive in white linen, centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Gordon Collins of Columbus, sister of the bride, served the punch and Mrs. William Steffen, sister-in-law, cut the cake.

Mrs. Gipe graduated from Lisbon High School with the class of 1958, attended Tarkio, (Mo.) College and has been employed as a secretary in Akron.

The groom, a graduate of Tarkio College, attended the University of Iowa and is personnel director for the Campbell Soup Co. at Omaha, Neb.

Ladies Aghast; Man Wins Flower Contest

NEWARK, N.Y. (AP) — The ladies were slightly aghast. A man won the national flower arranging competition.

He is John C. Dowling Jr., 48, of Gaffney, S.C., who, with his wife, operates a women's ready-to-wear clothing store.

"I really invaded a women's field, didn't I?" he said today. Dowling was declared the winner of the seventh annual Sterling Bowl Tournament at the annual Newark Rose Festival Wednesday for his arrangement of a combination of Pink Sensation and Velvet Times roses mingled with rose foliage.

"The entire arrangement cost me less than $5. I used some scrap aluminum spirals from a factory that makes molds for recapping tires," he said.

Dowling, the only man in the field of 14 national finalists in the festival competition, was nominated by the State Garden Club Council of South Carolina as its lone representative. The original entry list included 110 persons from 41 states.

Cubans Battle In New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — Several hundred Cubans, for and against Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, battled sporadically for three hours outside a meeting hall on Wednesday night. Two Molotov cocktails were tossed but did no damage.

During the melee, a dummy likeness of Castro was trampled and burned.

Six men were arrested on charges of unlawful assembly, malicious mischief and violation of the Sullivan (anti-weapons) law.

One man was stabbed but he fled the scene in a taxi. Several men were taken to hospitals with head, leg and arm bruises.

The disturbance began after the "Cuban American Civil Rights Committee" met at Palm Gardens on West 52nd street "to protest the persecution of Cuban Americans who favor the Castro government."

Anti-Castro Cubans gathered outside. The riot started when several men left the hall to rebuke the crowd for shouting "Down with Castro!"

Trial of Teacher Ends In Hung Jury

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The trial of a 40-year-old former school teacher accused of statutory rape of a 14-year-old pupil ended in a hung jury early today.

Judge Stanley Husted of Clark County Common Pleas Court dismissed the jury at midnight after it failed to reach a unanimous verdict during six hours of deliberations.

On trial was Glenn Whitaker of nearby Enon. He faced four charges involving immoral relationships with the girl, two counts of rape with consent and two of violating Ohio's laws regulating relationships between students and teachers.

The case attained national attention in October 1961 when Whitaker and the girl eloped to Kentucky where a marriage license was obtained. Whitaker was arrested a few days after the marriage ceremony in Paris, Ky., and extradited to Ohio.

The girl charged she and Whitaker had had sexual relations prior to the marriage.

State Prosecutor James Berry

said the state will file a new indictment against Whitaker in the near future.

Pinson Bops Writer Over Story Dispute

By LOU PRATO
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Cincinnati baseball writer Earl Lawson says Johnny Temple throws a harder punch than Vada Pinson. He should know.

Pinson, angered by a Lawson story criticizing his fielding, landed a right to Lawson's chin in the Cincinnati dressing room Wednesday night prior to the Pittsburgh game won by the Pirates 5-4. Temple punched Lawson six years ago in a dispute.
"I criticized Pinson's fielding which hasn't been good this year," Lawson said.

Pinson, a 5-foot-11, 175-pound speed demon, told The Associated Press he was sorry about the whole thing.
"It was just something that happened on the spur of the moment," Pinson, 23, said. "I don't go around punching people."
"He (Lawson) apologized during batting practice and so did I," Pinson added. "He said he was wrong."

Lawson said he holds no grudge against Pinson, but he added: "I'm a little tired of getting hit all the time by ballplayers."

Temple, former Red second baseman now with the Baltimore Orioles, socked Lawson over a dispute on a call the writer made as an official scorer. The two later became friends.
"Temple hit harder," Lawson grinned.

Pipoly Wins Ohio Pre-Senior Laurels

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Youngstown's Steve Pipoly has something besides a sultan to show his wife and four children today for all those hours he's spent on the golf course—a state championship trophy.

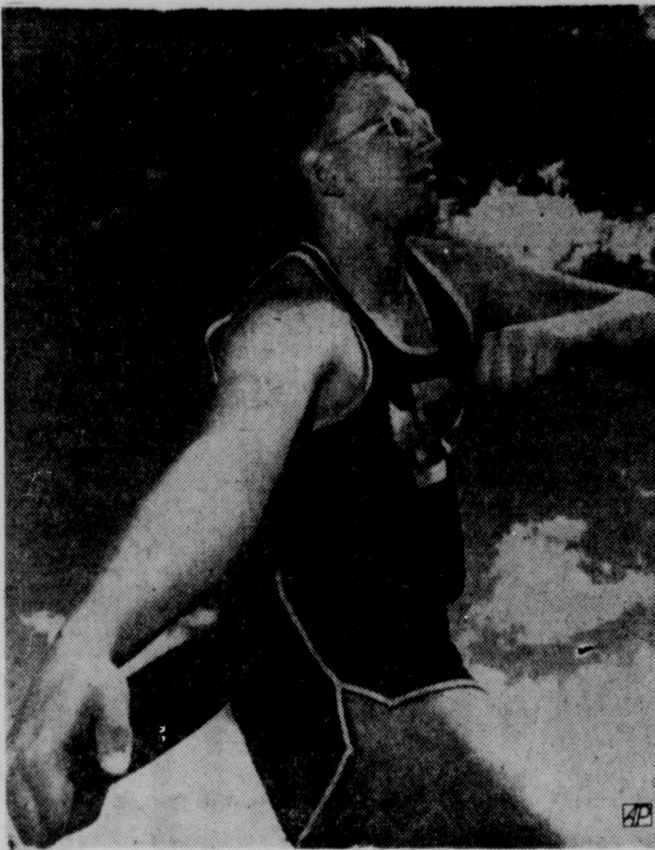

Pipoly, veteran campaigner in Ohio amateur golf circles, easily outdistanced a field of 141 rivals, age 40-54, Wednesday in winning the seventh annual Ohio State Golfers Association pre-seniors tournament.

The 44-year-old businessman added a 74 to the 70 he shot Tuesday, and the 144 total was five strokes better than runners-up Art Todd of Columbus (74-75) and A. D. Meder of Cadiz (72-77).
Art Todd's brother, Harold of Columbus, wound up fourth with 150, a stroke ahead of two-time defending champion Tom Jones Jr. of Youngstown (77-74) and two others.

Late Models Return To Action Saturday

All Amateur Card Planned At Canfield Track Friday

The amateurs have provided fans with plenty of thrills at Canfield Speedway this season and Friday night's all-amateur program should top them all for action.
The Friday card will feature the annual amateur mid-season championship—a 50-lap duel over the quarter-mile track. There will be eight events on the card and some 65 amateurs are expected to have their mounts on hand.
There will be races on Saturday night, as usual, with the amateurs and late models sharing the program in a 10-event race session. Some 90 cars will be on hand for the Saturday card.
The amateur title race on Friday will be wide open with almost all of them having a chance to win. The fastest 24 qualifiers will be eligible for the 50-lap grind.
Paul Sabol of Youngstown and Dick Waldele of Struthers have a good chance at the title. Sabol, piloting a 1955 Ford, has chalked up one feature win and several times has finished high in the shorter events.
Waldele will be driving a 1950

Mark of 63 feet, 4 1/2 inches for shotput is a foot beyond the best intermediate distance in U. S. last year.

Plans To Enroll At Houston

Oberlin Youth Tops Jr. Golf Tourney

By FRITZ HOWELL
MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The University of Houston, which this week added another to its long string of NCAA golf championships, is about to add a budding Buckeye star to its links roster.

He's Bob Bourne of Oberlin, currently the hottest swinger in the fourth annual Mid-American Junior Match Play Golf Tournament which went into the quarter-finals at 5:30 a.m. today.

Has Won Three Matches
The six-foot, 210-pound curly-haired blond's credentials are imposing. He led the qualifying round with a 68 over Possum Run Country Club's 6,258-yard par 71 layout. He's won three matches, two by 5 and 4 and one by 6 and 5, and he's seven under par for the route. He has won the Northern Ohio and Cleveland District junior titles, was second in the 1961 state high school meet and a quarterfinalist in the Mid-American last year.

Bob plans to enroll as a Houston freshman this fall.
To stay in the Mid-American competition, he must get by the smallest player in the tournament today. His foe was John Brandt of Elyria, a Notre Dame sophomore who stands only 5-foot-4 and weighs 105 but who plays with the finesse of a billiard shark.

Brandt ignored a 3-down deficit at the turn Wednesday to win, 2 up, over Akron's Chuck Hill.
Other quarterfinal matches today sent Gene Boni, Sandusky's Jaycee champion, against Garay Goecke, winner of Dayton's Jaycee tournament the last two years and a freshman enrollee at Ohio U.; Volker Krajewski of Kettering's 1961 high school champions against Jim Baske, 16, of Benton Harbor, Mich., and Dave Deever of Ashland against Bob Miller of the same city.

Baske was only one over par for each of two winning matches Wednesday, but Bourne stole the scoring show as he hit the nine-hole turn four under par and 7 up on Mount Gilead's classy Denny Gallagher. Krajewski made it to the quarterfinals with a 22-hole victory over Dan Robison of Kettering, his teammate on the 1961 scholastic title team.

Four Survivors Meet Today

The four survivors of today's early morning matches were to meet late today to decide which pair of the starting field of 285 get into Friday's 36-hole championship round. The tournament, sponsored by the Mansfield News-Journal, is the only match play event in the Midwest for players 18 and under.
Other third round results:
Boni defeated Chuck Morris, Kent, 4 and 3; Goecke defeated Ted Beattie, Mariemont, 3 and 1; Deever defeated Chuck Lanning, Logan, 3 and 2; Miller defeated Tom Kennedy, Cuyahoga Falls, 5 and 4; Baske defeated Hugh Morgan, Alliance, 1 up.

Bo Belinsky of the Los Angeles Angels fanned 183 batters in 174 innings for Little Rock last season.

Stepanic's 3-0 Victor Over Lincoln

Stepanic's Tavern increased its Class AA League lead with a 3-0 victory over Lincoln Machine in a make up game played Wednesday at Kelley Park.

The win gives Stepanic's a one and a half game lead over Lincoln Machine and Tullis American who are tied for second.

Stepanic's were able to rap one hit but eight walks proved to be the difference for the winners.

After three scoreless innings Stepanic's took a 2-0 lead on a two-run double by Bill Ferguson. Jim Roach and Dave Drakulich had walked before Ferguson's blast.

Lincoln Machine collected five singles with Bob Peet showing the way with two.

Jim Stonemetz received the win as he walked three and fanned five. Judge Guiler suffered the loss for Lincoln.

Aldom's Lose To Canton In Legion Tilt

Aldom's Salem Diner went down to its third consecutive loss in American Legion League action Wednesday at the hands of Canton, 13-5 on the Centennial Park diamond.

Canton scored in every frame but the third as the visitors jumped to a 5-0 lead after two innings of play.

The locals came back with back-to-back homers by Tom Roberts and Chuck Wilson to close the gap at 5-2 after three innings of play. Butch Crawford rapped a triple in the inning but was let stranded on base.

Aldom's racked up its final three tallies in the last of the sixth frame on a homer by Tom Swartzhoff and a two-run home run by Tracy Bissell bringing in George Begalla who had singled.

Pacing the Salem 10-hit attack was Wilson with a homer and a triple. Crawford also chipped in with two safeties.

Tom Furlong suffered the loss for Aldom's going five innings as he gave up 10 of the 12 Canton hits.

Jeff Phillips featured in the Canton batting attack as he collected a homer and three singles.
Salem will travel to Leetonia Wednesday for its next league encounter.

West Point Situation Prompts Inquiry

Recruiting Looked Into In Military Academies

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—The nation's three service academies have moved to avoid conflict with other colleges in recruiting athletes but it may not head off a threatened congressional inquiry.

Rep. Williams Jennings Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., has joined Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., in urging an investigation of recruiting practices by the military academies in the wake of the appointment to West Point of two football players who had signed letters of intent to enroll in two South Carolina colleges.

His plea came while the superintendents of Army, Navy and Air

Cards Drop Dodgers 5-4; White Sox Bump Twins 5-1

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hank Aaron doesn't look like a slugger until he starts hitting. But in the last five years the Milwaukee outfielder has had more home runs than anyone else in the National League.

In the past three days he's played four games against the New York Mets, had nine hits in 16 times at bat, including a double and three home runs, and driven in 11 runs.

The performance boosted his season totals to a .335 average—which is tied for the lead—16 home runs and 58 runs batted in.

Braves Sweep Pair
His big day was Wednesday with five hits, including two home runs, and six runs batted in as the Braves swept a pair, 9-4 and 3-2. The nightcap was called at the end of six innings because of rain.

Leading Los Angeles dropped a 5-4, 11 inning affair to the Cardinals, but retained their 2½ game lead when Houston clipped second-place San Francisco 9-5. Pittsburgh edged Cincinnati 5-4 in the only other game. Chicago at Philadelphia was postponed by rain.

Bill White drove in the 11th inning tie-breaker for St. Louis with a single. His drive through the box off loser Ron Perranoski followed singles by Ken Boyer and Jim Schaffer. Bobby Shantz, who took over in the eighth, got the victory.

Larker's Slam Aids Colts
Norm Larker's grand slam homer and a pinch double by Pidge Browne that broke a 5-5 tie were the key blow in Houston's conquest of San Francisco. Roman Mejias also got a homer for the Colts.

Pittsburgh's victory, forged on a rally-killing ninth-inning relief performance by Elroy Face, boosted the Pirates into sole control of third place.

Aaron's two homers were the only Brave hits in their abbreviated second game with the Mets, and drove in all three runs. The Mets rallied for two in the sixth and last inning, but Lew Burdette came in to chop it off.

In the opener, Aaron had three singles and drove in three runs, Gus Bell had a three-run homer and Joe Adcock a one-run blast to pace the 15-hit attack off five Met pitchers.

ers are suffering a collective streak of poor marksmanship or they're feeling uncommonly vindictive toward their natural enemies—the hitters.

Wednesday night Boston's Mike Fornieles matched a modern major league single game record by plunking four Cleveland batters in the Indians' doubleheader sweep over the Red Sox. And at Kansas City, Jerry Walker of the Athletics nicked Leon Wagner of Los Angeles, Wagner, threw his bat at Walker, Walker threw the ball at Wagner again, and both were ejected after a medium sized free-for-all.

Yanks, Orioles Rained Out
By beating Boston twice, 6-3 and 3-0, the Indians boosted their league lead to two full games over Minnesota, a 5-1 loser to Chicago. Los Angeles whipped the A's for the seventh straight time, 5-1, and Washington nipped Detroit 5-4. New York and the Orioles were rained out at Baltimore.

The Angels started off with Bob Rodgers' two-run homer in the second. Wagner whacked No. 20 in the fourth. When Wagner came up in the sixth, Walker plunked him and a typical baseball battle ensued—much milling and swinging, little hitting and hurting.

After peace was restored, Danny McDevitt became the Kansas City pitcher and was touched for Los Angeles' last two runs in the seventh. Ted Bowsfield won it, getting a big assist from Bob Botz over the final three innings.

Wild Pitch Helps Chisox
Misdirected pitches also helped the White Sox over the Twins. Chicago got a run in the second against Joe Bonikowski on a walk to Al Smith, an error and a wild pitch then wrapped it up with three in the third off reliever Ted Sadowski. Ray Herbert gave up 10 Minnesota hits, but went all the way.

The last-place Senators rallied for three runs in the seventh inning and got some nifty relief pitching from Pete Burnside in beating the Tigers.

Hot Stove Leagues

Three games were played in Hot Stove League action Wednesday with one no-hitter and one one-hitter being recorded.

Class G

Bob Bentley hurled the Fire Department to a 4-2 victory over Bricker's on the strength of his one-hitter. The win gave the league-leaders a spotless 7-0 record.

Bricker's moved to a 2-0 lead in the top of the second frame on an error, a hit batter and a single by Denny Scullion.

The Firemen tied the count in the last of the third on Lou Markovic's two-run homer. A walk, a triple by Tom Bica and a single by Markovich produced the winning runs for the Firemen in the last of the fifth canto.

Markovic paced the winners' cause with two hits. Bill Makras chipped in with a triple.

Class H

Undefeated Moose Lodge captured its sixth win with a lopsided 26-3 triumph over winless Howard's Studio behind the no-hit pitching of two hurlers.

Six walks, three errors and a hit batter coupled with a single by Dave Paxson brought in nine runs for the winners in the first frame.

The Moose added eight runs in the second and nine more in the fourth.

Howard's Studio received six

Spaghetti With a Choice of Topping

A new spaghetti sauce, a choice of toppings, and you can serve a spaghetti supper with interesting new flavor.

The sauce is a dry mix, complete with tomato, and just needs to have water added and simmered for ten minutes. It is spicy, delicious and easy to cook. The toppings can be almost anything your imagination creates.

For a starter, here are three good ideas—crisp bacon, sauteed mushrooms, and grated parmesan cheese. Let each person choose his own topping and sprinkle it over the sauced spaghetti.

1 pkg. complete spaghetti sauce mix, 1 (8 oz.) pkg. dry spaghetti, 6 slices bacon, fried crisp, 1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese, 1/4 lb. sauteed fresh mushrooms.

Cook spaghetti sauce according to package directions. Drain spaghetti well. Pour hot cooked sauce over spaghetti and serve with choice of toppings—bacon, cheese and mushrooms. Makes 4 servings.

Man Carrying $247,000 Sent to Jail

NEW YORK (AP)—A French national trying to leave the United States with $247,400 cash in a valise has been sentenced to six months in jail for refusing to say where he got the money.

The Frenchman, Antoine B. Rinieri, 42, said he is an international art dealer. A Federal Narcotics Bureau agent said he is well-known to the bureau and had been under surveillance since his arrival in this country.

Rinieri was detained at Idlewild Airport Monday night when he arrived aboard a Swissair flight bound from Chicago to Switzerland with a scheduled stop at Montreal. The plane et down here because of engine trouble.

Customs agents checked a valise he carried and found the cash.

U.S. Atty. Joseph Joey directed that he be taken before a federal grand jury investigating a narcotics smuggling ring.

The prosecutor said Rinieri declined to answer the same questions for the jury. He was taken before Judge Walter Bruchhausen in Brooklyn federal court—where his refusal to answer brought him two three-month jail terms, one for each question.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Joseph Marchese said Rinieri arrived in New York June 12 and went to the 21 Club to meet a man Rinieri identified only as an art salesman. The man failed to show up and Rinieri flew to Asheville, N.C., where he remained until he flew to Chicago Monday to board the Zurich plane.

Fold in diced pears, pineapple and almonds. Pour into oiled 1-quart mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad plate; garnish with watercress, remaining pear halves, cut side up, and grape clusters. Serve with your favorite dressing.

OUT OUR WAY

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Old Country Store

I just can't help talking about our fine produce department, every order that goes through the checkouts has produce included in it, the people just can't resist buying. The prices are lower and the quality and variety just can't be found elsewhere in this area. Ray really goes all out to take care of your produce needs. Each week he is offering you a lot of low, low prices on many items. If you want to pay more you will have to shop at some other store. If you want to save money Ray will help you.

So They Say

It takes very little research, or even thought to convince one that international telephone and international television mean virtually nothing to the mass of citizens of low-income countries around the world and will mean little for years to come.—William R. Mackling of the Rand Corp., charging U.S. is substituting glamour for science in its space programs.

Helena Flaud to Arrive In Leetonia Aug. 25 to Teach

LEETONIA — Miss Helena Flaud, a native of Nice, France, who will teach in the Leetonia public school system next term, will arrive in Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 before coming to Leetonia Aug. 25.

Miss Flaud's trip to the United States is made possible by the Fulbright Act under which transportation is paid for exchange teachers to and from the United States.

She is a graduate of the University of Portiers and the University of Aix en Provence, both in France. During the past seven years she has held teaching positions in Marseilles and St. Etienne in France and in Bristol, England.

Miss Flaud is something of a world traveler, having visited Great Britain, Germany, Ireland, Italy, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Senegal, Holland and Belgium. She will teach French at both Orchard Hill school, grades 7 and 8, and at the high school.

During the past two years Miss Flaud has taught at the Lycee Technique at St. Etienne in both French and English.

ANSWER FIRE CALL

LISBON — A burned out transformer in a neon light fixture was the only damage caused in a fire alarm at the Golden Star Dairy Store on W. Lincoln Way at 3:9 p.m. Wednesday, according to village fireman.

Shirley's Red Tour Hits Another Snag

MOSCOW (AP) — Film actress Shirley MacLaine today ran into another hitch in her tour of the Communist world—no Czech visa. She had planned to leave this morning for a film festival at Karlsbad, Czechoslovakia. But no visa was immediately forthcoming and she cooled her heels in her Moscow hotel room.

"We are still hoping we may get the visas later today," said Miss MacLaine's secretary, Loretta Lee. "Actually, it doesn't make much difference. We are on a vacation and don't have to be back at work until Sept. 1."

The delay gave Miss MacLaine a chance to rest up after a hectic visit to Leningrad. Her troubles there began when she became so engrossed in a party with some Soviet students that she passed up the midnight train to Moscow.

Not informed of the change in travel plans, her hotel put her bags in the lobby and gave away her room. She finished out the night in the lobby. In the meantime someone stole a bag containing her plane tickets, films and travel notes. The police are still looking for the bag, the actress said.

Soviet officials tried to hush up the incident on her return to Moscow Wednesday, but Miss MacLaine would not be hushed.

"The way I feel now I'd like to come back and dance the can-can naked in Red Square every May Day," she said.

Premier Khrushchev on his U.S. tour in 1959 watched Miss MacLaine dance the can-can on a Hollywood movie set and called it degenerate and shocking.

Boy Scout Camp Season To Open

Bennett D. Taylor, council executive, will again be the camp director. Dean Senanefes of Lisbon will be Assistant Camp director Tom Starkey of Salem, program director; Lonnie Bemis of Wellsville, waterfront director; Robert Queen of East Liverpool, storekeeper; Michael Williams of Springfield, chaplain, and Mr. and Mrs. John Ackeret of Lisbon, cooks.
